Predictive quality versus computational cost of TinyViT configurations